ABOUT OPERATION DEEP DIVE™:

Operation Deep Dive™ is a community-based, current and former service member, death prevention study taking place across the country. The hypothesis is that by analyzing common military service experiences and community factors associated with early mortality, we can prevent former service members' premature non-natural or natural death through early engagement and prevention measures for those with the highest probability of early mortality.

HOW YOUR AUDIENCE CAN HELP:

By participating in Operation Deep Dive™ interviews! These interviews can be conducted over the phone.

- Interviews investigate the lives of former service members lost to suicide or premature cause of death (overdose, asphyxiation, accidental gunshot, drowning, suicide by law enforcement, or high-speed, single-driver accident) within the last 24 months.

- The interview will examine how the deceased former service member was engaged within their community and how the community can better support their former service members in the future.

Insights shared will contribute greatly to the development of a proactive approach to preserving the life of former service members!
HOW YOU CAN HELP - POST ON SOCIAL:

We invite you to share about Operation Deep Dive™ with your social network to encourage those touched by former service member suicide or self-injury death to participate in the research study interviews.

The below posts will facilitate the correct links, simply copy and paste.
